Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2020 series for most Cambridge IGCSE, Cambridge International A and AS Level and Cambridge Pre-U components, and some Cambridge O Level components.

This document consists of 11 printed pages.

Generic Marking Principles

These general marking principles must be applied by all examiners when marking candidate answers. They should be applied alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptors for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme will also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptors for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptors for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently, e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptors.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however, the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptors in mind.

Note: All Examiners are instructed that alternative correct answers and unexpected approaches in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the relevant knowledge and skills demonstrated. Nonetheless, the content must be clearly related to and derived from the passage.

Question	Answer	Marks
1	Imagine you are a student at a school which is considering introducing eSports as part of the sports curriculum. Write the speech you give to your school community, giving your views. In your speech you should: • evaluate the views and attitudes about eSports given in both texts • give your own views, based on what you have read, about whether eSports should be offered in schools. Base your speech on what you have read in both texts, but be careful to use your own words. Address both of the bullet points. Write about 250 to 350 words. Up to 15 marks are available for the content of your answer, and up to 25 marks for the quality of your writing.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
1	Notes on task: Responses might use the following ideas: Text A • level of interest / increasing audience • global /cultural influence • broad demographic though predominantly young • skill / talent of competitors • (suggested) inclusion in Olympics / has similar attributes to 'real' sports • eSports as a career / financial gain • lifespan of games / ever-changing nature • dismissive attitude of 'traditionalists' Text B • passion of audience • powerful force: on a level with traditional sporting events / nations • live and interactive: access to stars / can post own streams • finance: attractive to advertisers / global brands • diversity of audience • aspirational
	Possible evaluation of ideas: Text A • whether it is appropriate for schools to reflect / encourage / offer alternatives to participation of a trend / fashion • sedentary / digital nature of 'sports' – not in line with schools' responsibility to students' health • should be aware of and preparing for career opportunities it presents / responsibility to prepare for real life skills in a modern world: there are real and often lucrative careers in this field - schools should be fostering this opportunity • how schools would meet cost of equipment / staying up to date with changing games: students could become expert in one type only to find it obsolete – how could parity be established? • skills and expertise of teachers – relatively few likely to be equipped to train students for eSports • the global reach of eSports promotes multi-cultural communication and cooperation – important values for schools to inculcate. • a very popular sport not dependent on the weather – useful for schools • chess is recognized by the IOC why not eSports. • generational prejudice against eSports is unfounded / ill-informed • school-based qualifications in eSports could be dismissed by traditionalist employers / college admission staff

Question	Answer	Marks
1	Text B • responsibility to educate to question influence of media / global brands, not facilitate it; the sponsors for eSports are often manufacturers of unhealthy products such as energy drinks and fact food • safer / more civilised combat sport than e.g. boxing • might engage disaffected students / quality of opportunity – more relevant, modern, interactive, open to all • non-sporty students will be given chance to excel: this is sport for the mind - their passions are legitimate • the eSports industry can provide opportunities including employment for people with disabilities • missed opportunities to broaden awareness of those not involved if we ignore it in school – career, social, global • opportunity for promotion of schools on the world stage / healthy competition between establishments - eSports skills prepare students for a remote-working world • the huge popularity of eSports drives technological innovation and contributes large amounts to the economy – surely beneficial to young people • inclusion in the curriculum would increase already disproportionate dependence on technology
