M and Mme Duval had decided to take their son and their daughter to the seaside for the summer holidays. The children loved going down to the beach where they made sand castles and it was amusing to play in the water.

They chose St. Malo as their destination. It is an interesting town in which there are many different attractions for young people. For example, there are several cafés where the customers chat, drink coffee, listen to music and play cards.

At the beginning of August, they set out by car from their home in the suburbs of Paris and headed for the coast. As St. Malo wasn't far from the capital, it was very popular and there were many other tourists who were following the same route.

After travelling for two hours, they had to stop and wait in a traffic jam. It was very hot and the conditions were not very pleasant. Fortunately, the children were able to read the books that they had brought in order to pass the time.

At last, the cars started to move forward again. They would arrive in an hour and then everyone would be able to get out of the car and relax. Next time, they would take their holidays in the spring!
